Four Years? Too Short
Some Did Not Marry
Ford Teaches Thinking
Little Ticker Tape

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1927 by Star Company.

RUSSIA STARTLES the League at Geneva, proposing to wipe out warfare, junk all armies, navies and armaments absolutely in four years.

Revolution is enthusiastic. Russia believes that in a few years it can change an uneducated proletariat; transform 150,000,000 uneducated, unthinking human beings into mental equals of the world's best. Nice thought, but it can't be done. To change a man you must change the shape of his forehead, the kind and size of his brain and deepen its convolutions. That takes generations, sometimes thousands of them, not four years.

Mr. Haldeman-Julius of Kansas, whose daughter is just trying a "companionate marriage" experiment, tells the world that his daughter was born six years before he, Haldeman-Julius, her father, was married. He didn't have money to set up housekeeping, but the dear little girl was born anyhow.

That is interesting, not unusual. Leonardo Da Vinci, second in greatness among all artists, was born outside of marriage, his father and mother never married. He supported his legitimate, respectable high born half-brothers and sisters.

William The Conqueror was born before his father married the interesting girl whom he first saw washing clothes in a brook as he rode past with his warriors.

But all that doesn't change the fact that marriage is better than lack of marriage. Marriage will not go out of fashion. It will persist until men become worthy of an institution at present too good for many of them.

While introducing his new car to the world, Henry Ford also introduces a new kind of school which he maintains near his famous Wayside Inn. He says the main object of the school is "TO TEACH THINKING."

That is the only education worth while, and the kind of education most generally neglected, especially in the big universities.

They teach NOT THINKING.

The value of what you eat depends on what you digest. The value of what you read depends on what you think. Ford's educational system mixes teaching the hands with teaching the mind. Our public schools should try that and look into the Ford method.

Wall Street tape, the little piece of white paper that runs through the ticker, was twenty minutes behind yesterday, could not keep up with the extraordinary speculation.

Stocks sailed up again, Steel, General Motors, etc. Three million shares were bought by somebody who evidently believes the time for that "necessary slump" has not yet come.

SHOWMAN SAYS BEACH ADMITTED HIS PART IN LILLIENDAHL KILLING

Mays Landing, N. J., Dec. 1 (I.N.S.).—Willis Beach, 50-year-old friend of Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl, and jointly accused with her of murdering her husband, confessed to Samuel Bark, a showman, in Baltimore, shortly after the slaying that he had fired the fatal shot, Bark testified today.

In Bark's testimony which came at the opening of the fourth day's session of the trial, the State played its ace,

$100,000 CAMBRIDGE FIRE; 15 ARE INJURED

Six workmen narrowly escaped death, three firemen were injured, about a dozen others were overcome by smoke and the Central square business district of Cambridge was threatened today as fire caused damage estimated at $100,000 to the Manhattan Market building at No 613 Massachusetts avenue.

It was three hours before the fire was out, and by that time smoke had seeped into the tunnel station, alarming early morning travelers, while tons of water poured on the blazing structure had filled the basement to a depth of two feet, ruining great stocks of groceries.

The building, although mostly only one-story high, is one of the largest markets in New England and covers 20,000 square feet. The fire started in the electric wiring of a motor operating a dumb waiter.

Firemen had to use gas masks to fight the flames inside the building and they worked in relays, many staggering from the interior under the effects of smoke and requiring

WOMEN WEEP AT PLEA FOR MRS. GIBBONS' LIFE

Fall River, Dec. 1.—Women spectators, the defendant and even the police matron in charge of the accused widow wept today as Atty. Frank M. Silvia in an impassioned closing argument castigated government witnesses and asked the Superior Court jury to find Gertrude F. Gibbons not guilty of the murder of her husband.

Following the defense lawyer's dramatic plea, Dist. Atty. William C. Crossley summed up the State's case and Judge Hugo A. Dubuque began his charge to the jury. A verdict may be rendered before night.

Using a knife and a razor, William N. Nern, 58, of Middlesex avenue, Medford, today stabbed and slashed to death his sleeping wife, then attempted suicide by stabbing himself four times and drinking poison.

Retaining consciousness long enough to tell police officers summoned by neighbors that he had just killed his wife, Nern collapsed and was taken to the Lawrence Memorial Hospital, Medford, where his name was placed on the danger list.

Several years ago, according to the police, Nern, who is a salesman, suffered from a mental ailment, but was believed to have fully recovered.

FIVE SENTENCED IN SALISBURY RUM CASE

Salem, Dec. 1 A.P.).—Prison sentences ranging from two to two and one-half years and fines of $6,000 were imposed by Judge Joseph F Quinn today upon Harold F. Congdon, former Salisbury Beach chief of police, and four others convicted of charges in connection with the so-called Salisbury Beach liquor conspiracy case.

Congdon, convicted on two charges, received the heaviest sentence. He was given two and one-half years in the House of Correction and fined $1,000 on each charge, that of conspiracy to violate the liquor law and conspiracy to bribe, but the prison sentences run concurrently so that his actual term will amount only to two and

400 WOMEN CAUGHT IN BEACON ST. FIRE SCARE

Severe injuries were narrowly averted today when a fireman chopped away a half-door of the Women's Republican Club, Beacon street, as more than 50 women, fleeing from the building in a fire scare rushed the open half in their efforts to gain the street. Fears of 400 others were dispelled by Mrs. Herbert W. Mason, house manager.

The women were attending the regular Thursday lecture of the club on the second floor, listening to a talk by Mrs. George W. Knowlton, Jr., chairman of the Massachusetts American Legion Auxiliary.

A grease-fire in the basement was the cause of the scare. Though no smoke had reached the lecture hall, the sudden alarm and the arrival of fire apparatus caused the undue excitement responsible for the rush.

Crowds rushing from the Common and autos caught in the vicinity gave police one of the worst traffic jams in months to untangle. The rush finally was directed through Charles street to Park square and in the opposite direction to Cambridge street.

300 RADIO STATIONS TO BE CLOSED BY BOARD

Washington, Dec. 1 (A.P.).—Elimination of possibly 300 of the present 694 broadcasting stations operating in the United States during the coming year has been decided upon by the Federal Radio Commission.

Commissioner Sam Pickard said today that the wholesale reduction in the operating broadcasting stations had been decided upon as the only means of enabling full public utilization of radio possibilities.

Pickard added that there had been sufficient court action upon the law's provisions to insure the commission's authority, while the continuous congestion in the radio field had demonstrated the necessity of the step.

Pickard said that all outstanding broadcasting licenses expiring December 31 would be continued to February 1. Thereafter the commission would consider elimination recommendations from its radio inspectors in the field.

In determining which stations may survive, the commission expects to use the standards set up by the radio law and to grant licenses to those enterprises which it considers to be most needed by public convenience, interest and necessity.

A secondary consideration will be the priority of the station in its field.

How Calles Planned to Influence Press

INFORMATION which will be published by the Boston Evening American and associated Hearst newspapers tomorrow show how President Calles of Mexico attempted to influence public opinion in the United States.

THESE translations of State papers from the Mexican secret archives will show that money was ordered paid to members of the American press in an effort to stem the tide of unfavorable sentiment which existed against Mexico at that time.

PROFITS TAKEN IN WALL STREET

Profits were taken in the closing period in Wall Street today, causing the list to present a spotty appearance. Radio, Collins & Aikman and Westinghouse Electric all registered new highs. General Motors and U. S. Steel eased a point or more.

MYSTERY GIRL RESCUED BY HER UNCLE

Tessiah Goldberg, 16, of No. 3727 Eighty-Ninth street, Long Island City, N. Y., is the girl amnesia victim who has been at the Chardon Street Home since being found wandering late at night, near the South Station.

The girl, a student at the George Washington School, Ninety-third street and Anderson avenue, Long Island City, was identified by her uncle and guardian, William Block, at whose home she lives.

Block, who raced over from New York today after notification by New York detectives, said his niece vanished after school Monday. The uncle and guardian said she was struck by a truck in New York three months ago and had had weak spells since.

TAFT SCHOOL SUSPENDS 11 BOYS FOR DRINKING

Watertown, Ct., Dec. 1 (A.P.)—Indulgence in forbidden beverages resulted in suspension of eleven boys from the Taft School, a preparatory school founded and operated here by Horace Taft, brother of U. S. Chief Justice William Howard Taft.

The names of the youths were withheld by Mr. Taft, who verified the report, on the ground that publicity might injure the students and their parents. It is understood they were members of the football squad and that it was at a football dance Thanksgiving eve that all were under the influence of liquor.

ret aid treatment to revive them. ll returned again to service.

Fireman William Creedon received severe cuts on the face from broken glass. David C. Murphy injured his back in falling from a wall, and Thomas W. Lane suffered a sprained ankle.

T. W. Lane

The hero of the fire was Timothy Mahoney of Belmont, watchman at the market, who discovered the fire and tried to put it out with two fire extinguishers. He then tried to rip out the wiring of the motor, but was overcome by electric shock, falling dangerously near the flames.

WATCHMAN RESCUED.

As the flames spread, five bakers at work in the rear smelled smoke and rescued Mahoney, barely escaping themselves through the smoke-filled structure. At the same time, Patrolman Joseph O'Connor in Central square saw that the building was afire and gave the alarm.

Vice-President C. Wesley Smith of the market company, who was notified and hurried to the scene, estimated the damage at $100,000.

D. C. Murphy Wm. Creedon

The fire spread so rapidly that when firemen arrived flames had eaten through the roof and sparks were scattering over a large area. Tongues of flame licked high above the roof and clouds of dense smoke poured out to form a pall over Central square.

Several buildings nearby, although endangered, were saved by their fire walls. Among these were the S. S. Kresge store and the Harvard Theater, on either side of the market.

UNDER CONTROL.

The picture presented for a time was weird. There was a low hanging dark cloud of smoke into which tongues of angry red flame kept licking. Added to the roar of the flames as they sought to devour the structure came the strident blasing of many lines of water turning to steam as the blazing rafters were hit.

For perhaps forty minutes it was nip and tuck, and then the firemen began to get the upper hand. After an hour's hard fight it seemed as though little headway had been made, with the flames still roaring angrily.

Ducks Squawk, Gun Gets Hen Thief Suspect

New Bedford, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—Percy L. Ashley cut peephles in one of his henhouses, ensconced himself in a blanket-wrapped chair and sat up last night, shotgun in hand, to watch for raiders of his Acushnet poultry yard.

At 11 p. m. ducks squawked and Ashley saw two shadows in the yard. When his command to stop went unanswered he fired his gun.

Half an hour a policeman, pulling a box in northern New Bedford, was begged by Jean Leger, 34, to hurry an ambulance for his pal. Leger said someone had shot Martin Lakowski, 23, while the two were walking along the street.

Each of the others, Ruell S. Getchell and Everett R. George, former Salisbury selectmen, and Warren S. Frothingham, and Howard F. George, former police officers, were sentenced to two years in the House of Correction and to pay fines of $1,000.

The court granted a stay of execution pending the filing of exceptions.

The cases, which have been in the courts for several years, resulted from charges that liquor was landed openly on the beach under the protection of police officials and selectmen. Ten men sentenced today were found guilty by a jury Saturday.

fendant, was roughly handled by Silvia in his argument to the jury, the attorney asking:

"If your sister were in trouble, wouldn't you fall on your knees and pray for assistance? Or would you, like this man, go into the highways and byways, knocking on this door and that door, seeking things to condemn her?

"She wrote to him from jail asking him to visit her because she wanted to see her baby and what did he do? He went there and brought a detective with him. And the evidence, where little Herman, aged 5, is quoted as saying his mother killed his papa, is contemptible. There is no evidence offered you that he actually said that.

"This little girl never killed her husband or stood by aiding and abetting another in the murder.

"The government has failed to prove by conspiracy, by chain of circumstance or by any other way that she killed her husband with her own hands or aided the murderer, whoever that murderer may be," he said, in his final argument.

"Only flights of imagination have placed her at the farm where the body was found in the well. By actual evidence or testimony, the State has failed to place her at that spot.

"It is impossible even to think that she lifted a 345-pound rock and placed it on top of the well cover or even helped a man to do that. And a witness has testified that the stone was not on the well cover on April 24, the day after Gibbons is supposed to have been slain—the day after he disappeared."

24 IN FISHING BOAT SAVED BY COAST GUARD

New York, Dec. 1 (I.N.S.).—A Coast Guard patrol early today rescued twenty-four men in a fishing boat, the Union, two miles off Coney Island as the craft was being blown to sea in a gale. The boat was disabled by the heavy sea, and the half-frozen men had donned life jackets in expectation of being washed overboard. The fishermen had summoned help by burning newspapers over him.

MEDFORD MAN SLAYS WIFE, STABS SELF

A daughter, Lillian, who is employed in Boston, collapsed at the home of neighbors when she arrived and was informed of the tragedy.

The police say that Mrs. Nern was asleep when her husband became possessed by a maniacal fury. Arming himself with a knife and a razor, he attacked the helpless woman in bed, stabbing and slashing until her head was nearly severed from her body.

AWAKES, SCREAMING.

As the first blow was struck the woman awoke and screamed, only to be silenced by a vicious slash of the razor that changed the scream into a faint cry. A young married couple who live in the apartment upstairs heard the first cry, but as it was not followed by other sounds, they gave it no attention.

The police say Nern apparently recovered his senses after he had hacked his wife's body into a lifeless mass, and was literally bathed in her blood. Overcome by remorse he rushed to the front piazza, where neighbors noticed his peculiar actions, and sharp eyes detected blood stains on his clothing.

TURNS KNIFE ON SELF

While they were telephoning for the police Nern re-entered the house and thrust the knife four times into his side beneath the heart.

Then as though determined to complete the act of self-destruction, he drank poison, remaining conscious until the officers, hastily summoned, arrived at the house.

He was rushed to the hospital, where a police guard was established over him. The body of Mrs. Nern was taken to the undertaking rooms of Edward J. Gaffey & Sons on Fifth street, Medford, and the medical examiner notified.

When Patrolman William C. Fields, accompanied by Officers Fred W. Blake and John McGrath, had first entered the house, they found Nern standing in the hall, rocking on his feet.

He offered no resistance when they informed him he was under arrest, and calmly discussed the crime, which, he said, followed an argument over his daughter Lillian.

RUM PARTY OF WIFE DROVE REMUS MAD

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 1 (I.N.S.)—John T. Rogers, St. Louis newspaper man, was recalled to the witness stand today and graphically described an occasion in Indianapolis when George Remus, slayer of his wife, Imogene, behaved like a madman when he was told that his wife was enjoying a high-ball party with Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., in a room at the Claypool Hotel.

Rogers is the Pulitzer prize winner of 1926 for meritorious journalism. He had spent "weeks at a time" with Remus for almost two years before Remus shot his wife. Rogers had been assigned to get the story of Remus' intricate bootleg operations.

Recalled today, Rogers was asked by Defense Attorney Charles H. Elston if he had ever "crooked any instance that had led him to believe the defendant was insane. The witness replied affirmatively and was told to relate that occasion.

SHRIEKED IN ANGER.

"It was in Indianapolis during the Jack Daniels liquor conspiracy trial," said Rogers. "Remus was a Government witness in that case and was quartered at the Claypool Hotel. George Conners (Remus' business partner) and I were with him.

"One night John S. Berger of Los Angeles, a promoter of expositions, came into the room in which Remus, Conners and myself were talking. Berger said: 'George, your wife and Dodge are now down on the fourth floor in Dodge's room having a highball party.'

"Remus leaped to his feet. His eyes almost popped out of his head. He gave a shriek. Conners and I seized him and, after a violent struggle, overpowered him. We finally got him back into his chair.

"For five minutes Remus upbraided us for not letting him get at Dodge, and, as he put it, avenge his honor.

"Then he sank into a state of nervous collapse when the struggle was over," Rogers related. "Perspiration broke out over his forehead. He apologized for the trouble he caused Conners and I. Meantime Conners had pushed Berger out of the room."

ASKS ABOUT BERGER.

"Is that the same Berger who went to St. Louis and tried to make Mrs. Remus give him $15,000 or $20,000 at Remus' request?" asked Prosecutor Taft.

Rogers didn't know, he said, but added that Berger was a high type business man, who promoted the St. Louis Industrial Exposition and is now engaged in a similar project for Los Angeles.

Elston tried to have Rogers testify that Berger, a millionaire, would not undertake such an errand as that suggested.

Taft objected, asserting he was asking about something he was prepared to offer to prove.

A contract, in the alleged handwriting of Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., for disposal of several hundred barrels of whiskey owned by Remus was read to the jury. Rogers had identified it as one of the subjects of a discussion between Remus and wife there several months before the slaying.

U. S. BARS 400 ALIENS AT BORDER; LETS 3,000 ENTER

Detroit, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—Approximately 400 alien commuters from border cities found their entrance into the United States blocked by provisions of the new modified immigration order when they reached the ferry dock today. An eleventh-hour modification of the original order, agreed to by government, permitted entrance of between 3,000 and 3,500 foreign-born commuters residing in Canada.

Of those barred today, the majority had failed to obtain quota immigration visas and their names were not found on the list of those registered with the American consul at Windsor. Some native Canadians were denied entrance.

FINE HUB MODEL AS DRUNKEN DRIVER

Miss Elaine Knott, a 24-year-old model, of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, in Quincy district court today, was fined $75 for operating an auto while under the influence of liquor, and $25 for reckless driving. She paid and a charge of drunkenness was filed.

Her friend and companion, Miss Florence Barker, 23, of Gainsboro street, Boston, also a model, pleaded nolo to a charge of drunkenness and her case was filed. Miss Knott pleaded guilty to drunkenness and operating her car while under the influence of liquor, and nolo to reckless driving.

Both young women were fashionably attired, and were accompanied by attentive escorts, the quartet furnishing much entertainment to the crowd that packed the courtroom.

The cases arose from a collision on Nov. 20 between a car driven by Miss Knott and containing Miss Barker, and one operated by Mrs. Hilda Rosenquist of East Squantum street, Atlantic, who was accompanied by her two daughters.

The Rosenquist car was sideswiped, and Mrs. Rosenquist suffered a scalp wound which was treated at the Quincy Hospital.

The two girls were arrested in Quincy Shore drive by a Metropolitan policeman.

WOMEN SAY HUB SHOPS BREAK SAFETY LAW

Health, sanitation and safety laws are being violated grossly in Boston garment factories, it was asserted today in a letter from prominent women to the Boston Evening American.

The women are Mrs. Claire C. Gurney of Wollaston, former president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Helen G. Roteh, former president of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters; Mrs. Hilda H. Culbert of Boston, and Mrs. Leslie R. Cutler of Needham, wife of Roger Cutler, former Harvard oarsman, and first woman ever to serve as chairman of a board of selectmen in New England.

In their letter, the women charged they visited "a half-dozen factories" in which women's dresses and coats were being manufactured and found fire doors obstructed or locked, common drinking cups and towels being used and belts and shaftings of machines operating without protection.

COMPLAINTS USELESS

"We are informed by the Joint Board of Sanitary Control of the women's garment industry," said the women in their letter, "that these menaces to the health and safety of the workers have existed substantially unchanged for months, and in spite of the fact that the board has brought them to the attention of the State Department of Labor and Industries."

Starting their letter, the women explained:

"The undersigned committee of women recently visited a half-dozen factories in the city of Boston in which women's dresses and coats were being manufactured, in order that we might gain first-hand knowledge of working conditions and the enforcement or labor legislation.

YALE SLAYER'S BOND PUT UP TO $20,000

Great Barrington, Dec. 1 (A.P.).—Bail under which Gilbert Stanley, former Yale hockey star, was held for the killing of Peter Fulco, Sunday, was increased from $10,000 to $20,000 when Stanley was arraigned today on a charge of manslaughter. The bail was furnished and he was released.

The case will come before the grand jury in Pittsfield.

Stanley shot Fulco on the grounds of the Berkshire Preparatory School, of which Stanley was manager, after Fulco had failed to obey his orders to leave the place. Stanley said the shotgun with which he threatened the man went off when Fulco rushed toward him in the darkness.

Charges of drunkenness and creating a disturbance which were made against Mrs. Mabel S. James and Michael Cleary, Jr., who, with Miss Ketell Budniski, a maid at the school, accompanied Fulco to the grounds, were continued for two weeks.

Mrs. St. James is expected to be the principal witness for the Commonwealth. She was with Fulco at the time of the shooting. Cleary had gone with Miss Budniski to her quarters in the school and was not present.

JAPANESE GOVERNMENT DENIES MEXICO STORY

Tokio, Japan, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—The Japanese Foreign Office declared today that the story printed in the Hearst papers in America regarding the proposed Mexico-Japanese treaty was untrue.

The Hearst papers said that Japanese military aid for Mexico in event of war with the United States was provided for in the draft of a secret treaty formally submitted to the Japanese government by President Calles in 1926.

PORCH CLIMBER GETS WIDOW'S JEWELRY

Mrs. George Brindle Walker, social worker of No. 385 Waverley avenue, Newton, was today bemoaning the loss of jewelry, stolen by a porch climber whom she interrupted in his work.

Returning to her home at a late hour, Mrs. Walker, who is a widow, found a porch window on the first floor open and suspected there was someone on the second floor. Hurriedly switching on the lights, she started for the house next door, but a door slam upstairs as she went out.

In response to a telephone call, all available Newton police were rushed to the house and searched the neighborhood, but without result.

Investigation disclosed that the jewelry, the value of which Mrs. Walker was unable to estimate, had been taken from bureau drawers on the second floor. The thief was orderly, and although he apparently made a thorough search, carefully replaced everything except the jewels.

The police believe there were two men, one of whom remained outside after aiding the other to get through the jimmied window. The active thief got away while Mrs. Walker was telephoning.

COLD WAVE TO PASS ON

Registering a determined effort to stage a wintry demonstration at its birth, December succeeded in reducing Boston temperatures 23 degrees today between the morning hours of 2 and 9 o'clock.

The official forecast predicts a still lower mercury mark tonight but adds that the cold snap will depart tomorrow.

In the opinion of the local Weather Man, Boston will escape the brunt of the advancing frigid forces, basing his prediction on the southeastern trend of the threat together with the presence of a small area of comparative warmth in Nebraska which will wall New England off for a time from the western centre of the cold.

our fellow citizens should be informed.

"In all of these factories visited, numerous violations of the State labor and health regulations occur, including among them locked and obstructed fire exits, unshaded electric lights glaring directly into workers' eyes, unspeakably filthy toilets, dirty and unlighted washbowls, an unsafe stair rail, common drinking cups and common towels, belts and shafting of machines unguarded, inadequate medical supplies, floors with accumulated dirt and tuberculosis-breeding lint and many other infractions of law.

"In one shop alone 13 violations were noted.

MOTHER WHO KILLED HER BABY SENT TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Madeline Otterson, twenty-year-old mother who carried her smothered child from her home, 0d Colony avenue, Wollaston, to Quincy court last Monday, today was ordered committed to the Psychopathic Hospital for sanity tests.

The young mother admitted the deed, when she told the police she couldn't stand the baby crying.

Prison Without Walls Is Col. Forbes' Vision

A prison without walls and dormitories without bars for prisoners is the vision of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former head of the United States Veterans' Bureau, as a result of his stay in Leavenworth Penitentiary.

Colonel Forbes was in Washington today transacting business before he returns to his ninety year-old mother Mrs. Christine Forbes, at Plymouth.

But prior to his departure for the capital the colonel declared his dream has gone even beyond that stage and has outlined plans for a prison without walls.

"I would house inmates in dormitories," he said, "and substitute moats for prison walls.

"Prisoners, also, should not act as censors of mail That should be done by a competent prison official. And there should be an official to arrange interviews with the warder when convicts wish to unburden themselves, as they often do.

"Prison is a nightmare of bells and bars and numbers. When you enter the gates, you're licked. They take your clothes from you and give you a hickory shirt and enim pants and brogans and second-hand underwear, stamped all over with the numbers of men who wore them before you—convicts liberated or those who died.

"And the nights and the feeling of restraint. It's all a nightmare. Hideous bells, bars and numbers They are dinned into your ears. They dance before your eyes, awake and asleep."

CHURCH ON WHEELS FROM MAINE AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, Dec. 1 (A.P.).—A church on wheels, formerly a boot legger's car, drove up to the White House today and its traveling preachers were introduced to President Coolidge by Senator Hale of Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton A. Plummer, the latter first deputy secretary of State for Maine, and Lawrence P. Greenwood said they had preached en route here from Wiscasset, Me. The miniature cathedral was financed, they said, by the Church of the Open Door and was inter denominational in character.

The car, with sable windows and peaked roof, has a removable steeple which is placed in position when the chapel is stationary.

First Pictures of the New Ford Car

Get complete details

TOMORROW

at Ford salesrooms

FOR several years we have been working on the new Ford car. For weeks and months you have been hearing rumors about it. For the past few days you have been reading some of the details of it in the newspapers.

Whatever you do tomorrow, take at least fifteen minutes to get the full story of this new automobile.

You will realize then that it is an entirely new and different Ford car, designed and created to meet modern conditions—a car that brings you more beauty, speed, quiet, comfort, safety, economy and stamina than you ever thought possible in a low-price car.

Automobile history will be made tomorrow, for the new Ford is not only new in appearance and performance . . . it is new in mechanical design. Many features of it are exclusive Ford developments. Some are wholly new in automobile practice. Its low price is a reflection of manufacturing improvements and economies that are as epoch-making as the car itself.

Nineteen years of experience in building 15,000,000 automobiles are behind the new Ford car and have counted in its making. Resources unmatched in the motor car industry are its heritage and its birthright.

The Ford policy of owning the source of raw materials, of making virtually every part, of doing business at a small profit per car, has cut many dollars off the price you would ordinarily have to pay for a car like this.

So we say to you—learn about this new Ford car tomorrow. Compare it with any other car in the light-car field for beauty of line—for comfort—for speed—for quick acceleration—for flexibility in traffic . . . for steadiness at all speeds . . . for power on the hills . . . for economy and low cost of up-keep . . . for its sturdy ability to stand up under countless thousands of miles of service.

Then you will know why tomorrow will be remembered as one of the greatest days in the entire history of the automobile industry. . . . Then you will know why the new Ford car will be your car.

WITNESS SAYS BEACH CONFESSED KILLING DOCTOR

CIRCUS MAN ADDS ACCUSED SLAYER SOUGHT $600 LOAN

For three days dozens of witnesses have marched off and on the stand amidst a maze of questioning designed to pin the murder on Mrs. Lillendahl and Beach by a net of circumstantial evidence, but not until Bark's appearance on the stand today did the state definitely link Beach with the killing.

Bark plunged immediately into the high spots of his testimony.

After stating that his home is in Texas, but that he was temporarily stopping in Baltimore, Bark declared that Beach had come to him and admitted that he had shot the doctor and needed money to get "out of the jam."

He was questioned by Prosecutor Hinkle.

Q.—How long have you known Beach? A.—A year.

Q.—Did you see Beach in a Baltimore park in September? (The murder occurred September 13th.) A.—Yes.

Q.—"What did he say to you and you to him?" A.—There was a man named Thompson with me and I said to Beach 'I see by the paper they want you pretty bad.' He said 'not very bad.' We sat in the park and talked awhile. He said 'I'll give you a chance to make some money.' I said, 'Something must be wrong if somebody will give me a chance to make money.'

"He said he wanted $600. He said he wanted to take some jewelry out of soak. He said it didn't take that much but that he needed some more for expenses. I said I didn't have any money for such a deal. Thompson asked him how the jam occurred and he said he and the old man had a "racket" and he shot him. Then he got $20 from Thompson."

Q.—You were talking about the murder at the time? A.—Yes.

Q.—What did Thompson say about the murder himself? A.—He said to Beach: "You've got yourself in an awful hole. You don't always beat those cases." Beach said: "I'll beat it." Then he said he and the old man had had some trouble about money.

Q.—Was anything said to anybody about how Dr. Lillendahl got in the woods? A.—Well, I believe—

Attorney McCarter of defense and Justice Campbell, presiding, both broke in, objecting to what Bark "believed."

Beach Cried, "Yoo Hoo!"

The judge then asked: "Did Beach say anything about where the shooting took place?"

Witness replied: "Yes. Thompson said: 'It looks from what the paper says it was an awful lonesome place,' and Beach said: 'Yes, we had to do something so we could make a getaway.'

"Beach then said that he drove up to this lonely place, he did man started raising h— and he shot him. As he walked off Beach said he hollered back, 'Yoo hoo,' and Mrs. Lillendahl gave the alarm.

Cross-examination of the witness followed by Atty. McCarter.

Q.—Where do you live? A.—In Texas, 124 miles up the Rio Grande from El Paso.

Q.—How long have you lived there? A.—I've been with different shows. I'm a trick roper with shows.

Q.—You're sort of a Will Rogers? A.—Oh, no.

Q.—How long have you been in the trick rope business? A.—About 25 years.

Q.—Living all the time near El Paso? A.—I lived near Dallas up to 1914 and then i lived in San Antonio.

Q.—Can you write? A.—Yes.

Q.—Will you write your signature on this pad? (The witness did so). Atty. McCarter showed the signature to the jury and it was marked in identification.

Q.—How did you happen to be in Baltimore? A.—Ma and my wife were down in North Carolina, where her folks live and we drove up to Baltimore. We just bought we'd stay there awhile and go back to Texas.

Q.—When did you reach Baltimore? A.—September 12.

Q.—Where were you staying? A.—In South Stricker street, in three light housekeeping rooms.

Q.—How long did you pay for your rooms? A.—A month in advance.

Q.—Where previous to Sept. 13 had you met Beach? A.—I met him a year ago, in Philadelphia, at a hotel. Clyde Thompson introduced me to him.

He's No Banker—Yet!

Q.—Where did Clyde Thompson live? A.—He lived in Texas to start with, but he lived in Philadelphia and Baltimore the last eight years.

Q.—Where is he now? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Have you seen him since? A.—Yes. I met him at Philadelphia one or two times. I saw him up there.

Q.—Talk with him? A.—Oh, I said a few words to h'm.

Q.—When next did you see him? A.—When he came to Baltimore.

Q.—What time was it? A.—One o'clock in the evening.

Q.—You mean afternoon or early morning? A.—Afternoon.

Q.—Someone told you Beach was coming to see you? A.—Yes, Clyde Thompson. He told me about an hour before Beach came.

Q.—When had you seen Beach last? A.—Well, I seen him in Philadelphia in June or July.

Q.—Are you a banker? A.—No yet.

Q.—You've told us what you are—a rope slinger? A.—I work on the ranch. I practiced a little law down there in Texas, when it was necessary.

Q.—Where in Texas? A.—Oh, any where.

Q.—Where? A.—El Paso, a bit and up at Melvin, 125 miles out of El Paso.

Q.—Any other place? A.—No, I haven't used the law practice for a living. I've had a little income.

Q.—Thompson told you Beach was coming to see you? A.—Coming to see me and him, he said.

Q.—You had read of this murder? A.—Oh, yes.

Q.—You had heard that Mr. Beach's name was connected with it? A.—Yes.

Q.—You went to meet Beach? A.—Thompson and I went out in the park and waited.

Q.—Why did you go out doors? A.—It was a little warm.

Q.—How did Beach know where you were living? A.—Thompson told him.

Needed the Money

Q.—What was the first thing said? A.—Well when Beach first came up, he told Thompson he was in kind of a jam. Thompson didn't ask what it was.

Q.—Well, you and Thompson sat down on a bench? A.—No, Thompson and Beach were sitting down, I was standing up.

Q.—Then what happened? A.—Thompson said Beach was hard up and needed some money. I asked what on. Thompson said on some jewelry.

Q.—And how much do you say Beach wanted. A.—Six hundred dollars.

Q.—Where were you admitted to the bar? A.—In Oklahoma, in year 1907.

Q.—Were you ever permitted to practice in Texas? A.—No.

Q.—Then you have no official recognition in Texas? A.—No.

Q.—Now, when you first visited Mr. Phillips as attorney for Mrs. Lillendahl you presented one of your cards? A.—One of my old cards.

Q.—Now this card read, "Samuel Bark, attorney at law, Bark Build ing, Dallas, Texas." A.—That was back in the old days.

Q.—Now was the Bark Building your building? A.—No, it belonged to a number of heirs.

Bark Is Unshaken

Q.—Just a mere coincidence, eh? A.—I suppose so.

Q.—Why didn't you tell us before you practised law in Dallas? A.—Well, I had a real estate office in the Bark building.

Q.—Oh! So you stopped this rope-swirling business to take up real estate? A.—We don't have rope-swinging all year round.

Q.—Now when you saw Attorney Phillips, what did you ask him? A.—I asked him for $600 for Beach. He said he wasn't Beach's lawyer but attorney for Mrs. Lillendahl. He said that I had better get out out of town—to go to Norfolk to see the other lawyer in the case. Then he said that if I went back home to Baltimore he would come down to see me.

Q.—Have you told us all? You merely wanted to know if Mr. Phillips would let you have $600? A.—No. I asked him to let Beach have the money. I didn't need the money.

Q.—Did you make any explanation as to why Beach needed it? A.—I just said he needed it, and Mr. Phillips said he would talk to Mr. Lillendahl about it. Then he said something about both of us going to New York on the evening train.

Q.—Did you show Mr. Phillips any papers that day? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Papers supposed to be signed by Clyde Thompson? And others purporting to be a detailed account of the murder? A.—No.

Bark's story withstood the cross-examination of McCarter better than had been expected. The Texas plainsman, whose manners were strange to a Jersey court, held to his assertions like a cowboy bull dogging a steer. The jury listened intently and both Beach and Mrs. Lillendahl did not miss a word.

Q.—While in Phillips office did you not say that you and Thompson and a man named Beiler were driving in this lane the day of the murder; that they went there in your car; that they went there to get narcotics and that Beach drove in in his car and Jr. and Mrs Lillendahl drove in in their car and that Beiler and Thompson hid, and

How Witness Says Beach 'Confessed' Jersey Slaying

May's Landing, N. J., Dec. 1.—Willis Beach was definitely linked with the Lillienthal murder today by the State's star witness, Samuel Bark, a showman.

Bark testified to this alleged "confession" by the accused poultryman:

"Beach came to me to ask a loan. He said he was in a jam and needed $60. He said he had come upon Dr. Lillendahl in the woods and shot him. He claimed his trouble with Lillendahl was over money. He said he could beat the case."

SHOWMAN CLAIMS BEACH SOUGHT $600 LOAN AFTER CRIME

that while they were hiding they heard shots and saw Beach kill Dr Lillienduhl?

Did you not say that they got away and fearing they would be involved they "ducked" the car in the Delaware River and that your purpose in seeing Phillips was to suppress this evidence and to produce evidence that would vindicate Beach and that you wanted $600 from Phillips? A.—No, nothing like that was said. Never.

McCarter offered a letter to the witness.

Q. Did you write this letter to Mr. Phillips? A.—My wife wrote it. She's a better scribe than I am.

Q.—How long have you been married? A.—I think it was in August.

Q.—This year, A.—Yes.

Q.—Where is your wife? A.—At home—No. 41 South Stricker street, Baltimore.

Q.—Who mailed that letter? A.—I expect I mailed it.

Q.—Will you write the words "attorney at law"?

The witness did so and McCarter showed the words to the prosecutor. The writing was marked in identification.

Was Told to Quit Town

Q.—When did you call Mr. Phillips up and what occurred. A.—I don't know the date. I asked him how everything was and he said he'd let me know.

Q.—Was that the last time you heard from Mr. Phillips? A.—Yes.

Q.—Now when did you get in touch with the prosecutor's office? A.—They came to see me the latter part of October. Frank Harrold came.

Q.—Is that Frankie? .A.—Yes, it is.

McCarter's sally drew a titter.

Q.—Mr. Phillips tell you to go to the prosecutor? A.—No, he told me to get out of town.

Q.—Who was with you when you talked with Phillips? A.—No one.

Q.—You made certain no one heard what you had to say? A.—Mr. Phillips shut the door. He did not want anyone to hear.

Q.—The first you knew of the prosecution was when Frank Harrold came to Baltimore to see you? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did he tell you how he had heard of you and how he knew your address? A.—I don't think he did.

Q.—Now Mr. Bark, do you still continue to reside at your old address? A.—Yes.

Will Be Recalled

Q.—When were you last there? A.—I left Baltimore last Sunday.

The witness then described the park near his Baltimore home where he talked to Beach and Thompson about lending Beach the $600.

"The name of the park," said the witness, "is Gilmore."

The witness said he never took any examination when he was allowed to first practice law in Oklahoma.

"Anybody who was practicing was just allowed to keep on practising," he said, "I was working in the marshal's office in Guthrie in 1907 when I took up law, and the way I started practising was allowed down in that part of the country."

This closed Bark's cross-examination, and as he left the courtroom a subpoena was served on him by the defense, indicating that he would be recalled later on.

O. K. With Ma-In-Law

Norwood Schwemmer, of Baltimore, the next witness, said that in October he was visiting his mother-in-law in that city.

Q.—Do you know Samuel Bark? A.—Yes, he lived near my mother-in-law.

The witness corroborated Bark's story. He told of seeing Beach, whom he recognized through a screen door clipping, talking with Bark.

Q.—Did you talk to Bark that day? A.—Later I did. We talked until about 9 o'clock that night. I first saw him that day when we were sitting out in front of the house.

Attorney McCarter then cross-examined.

Q.—What is your job? A.—At the present time I am not working.

Q.—Married, eh? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Who first asked you to come here from Baltimore? A.—Frank May, a county detective.

Q.—Where were you when May found you? A.—Visiting my mother-in-law.

Q.—So you got along quite well with your mother-in-law? A.—Yes, sir.

Nelson Leighter, Baltimore, the next witness, said that in the latter part of September or first part of October he was in Gilmore Park at about 1 p. m. to keep an appointment.

Although he didn't know Bark to speak to, he recognized him as being in the park on the day in question.

Q.—Did you see him with anyone? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you recognize the man to whom he was talking? A.—I think I do, but I don't want to swear to it.

Q.—Well, who was it? A.—I am sure it is Mr. Beach, but I wouldn't like to swear to it.

John F. Lyons, court crier in Camden, who followed on the stand, told of being in Shumung, Burlington County, the Sunday before Labor Day. This was eleven days before the murder.

Q.—What happened? A.—I was sitting in a car with another man and Beach came up. He said he was a regular "Pinkerton" that he had lived in those woods for years. He asked where the Atlson road was. I told him.

William J. Bushby, Jr., the next witness, lives in Chatsworth, where his father keeps a general store. The town is seven miles north of the murder scene.

Q.—Has the store a postoffice? A.—No, the postoffice is 50 feet away.

Q.—On September 13, did you see Willis Beach? A.—He came in our store.

Q.—When he came in did he talk to you or you to him? A.—We started to talk over a murder and robbery case—the Scullen case—and I said I understood Scullen was out on bail. Then Beach asked for my father and went to talk to him.

Q.—Where did he go from the store? A.—Down toward Harry Leech.

SEEK INJUNCTION AGAINST RADIO TUBE MONOPOLY

New York, Dec. 1.—Argument on a preliminary injunction sought by a group of independent radio tube manufacturers to restrain the Radio Corporation of America from operating a tube monopoly will be heard in the United States District Court of Delaware Friday.

State Witnesses Are Threatened by Prosecution

Maya Landing, N. J., Dec. 1.—Legal action against State witnesses who changed their stories when put on the stand in the Lillendahl case, was threatened by the prosecution today.

"I am sure that some legal action can be taken against certain witnesses, but I am not prepared yet to say what it will be. I have no use for persons who tell one story one time and another story at another time," Prosecutor Hinkle said.

WLOE IS NEWEST HUB BROADCASTING STATION

What is soon to be Boston's newest broadcasting station, with a transmitter in Chelsea and studios downtown, has been assigned the call letters "WLOE" by the Federal Radio Commission. It is a unit of the New England Broadcasting Company, which expects to ultimately have a chain of several stations in New England cities.

Studios are being erected and arrangement made to broadcast the entertainment of several well-known orchestras, theatres, organists, and other features. The call letters "WLOE" are particularly appropriate as the Loew theatres will broadcast through the new station.

CHAMBERLIN MAY BUILD PLANES IN HARTFORD

Hartford, Ct., Dec. 1 (A.P.)—The factory which is to build the motors for the "flivver airplanes" of Clarence D. Chamberlin may be located in Hartford, the transatlantic flier has announced. Chamberlin explained his future plans as entailing his entry into the airplane transport field, a liaison with railroads and steamship companies in providing airlines which would be auxiliaries to their regular services, and a chain of aviation schools.

Chamberlin's program for today included a visit to the Hartford aviation field and a flight as a passenger in a plane piloted by Governor Trumbull.

"YE OLD-TIME REUNION" TO BE HELD TOMORROW

BETTY ALDEN'S SOCIETY COMMENT

Church Home Society to Profit by Entertainment Staged in the Hotel Statler Ballroom

IT IS PERFECTLY AMAZING what an energetic and enthusiastic group can accomplish for a pet charity. They can, for instance, stage triumphantly the stage appearance of a charming young artist They can fill to capacity the enormous ballroom of the Hotel Statler. And they can reap a golden harvest for the pet charity aforementioned, in this particular instance the Church Home Society. Miss Cornelia Otis Skinner, brilliant young dramatic reader, last evening thrilled the very large and very representative audience, thrilled it and delighted it and made it call for more.

OF COURSE, WITH PEOPLE of Mrs. Morton Prince's and Mrs. Thomas Motley's and Mrs. Henry H. Fay's high station backing the affair, the audience would be representative and important, also. It contained far too many to recount. Mrs. Boylston Adams Beal, with her daughter, Miss Betty Beal; Mrs. Paul Birdsall, the Joseph F. Woods, Mrs. John Homans, Mrs. Harris Livermore, Mrs. Richard Middlecott Saltonstall, Mrs. Walter Pratt and Mrs. Charles Fanning Ayer were of it.

THE VERY HANDSOME ROBE Mrs. Beal wore glinted with metallic lights, and Miss Beal was wrapped in sable soft and deep Mrs. Ayer had her daughter, Miss Theodora Ayer, in her group. Major and Mrs. Pratt (Mrs. Pratt in black velvet, with a tall jeweled comb in her raven tresses) brought guests. Mrs. Morton Prince (there to see that wheels revolved smoothly) was in black velvet. Mrs. William Endicott Dexter's wrap was iridescent metal cloth and her gown of lace. Mrs. Woods wore a wrap with ostrich fronds at its neck.

MRS. JACOB C. ROGERS, WITH her silvery, green metal cloth frock, wore amber ornaments. Mrs. Rogers has a stock of fascinating costume jewelry, invariably suiting her ornaments to her frock in harmonious ensemble. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Binney were a part of the immense audience. Mrs. Binney in rose. Mrs. J. Brooks Penrose's gown and wrap gleamed with gold, as does practically every costume in these days and evenings when metal is so much the vogue.

MISS GABRIELLA LADD CAME WITH HER FATHER, DR. MAYNARD LADD. MISS EVELYN WINDELER, pretty daughter of the Herbert Windelers, was one of the younger set's representatives. Mrs. James Jackson's handsome self and her perfect jewels animated the scene. Mrs. Marion Lawrence Higgins brought a group of friends. Mrs. Gardiner Flake, in velvet wrap and crepe frock, entertained at the recital. Mrs. Fiske Warren's frock was lace, in beige. Miss Rosanna Thorndike came in with a group that included the Dwight Rudds (Eugenia Gardiner).

THE DUDLEY HOWES HAD A LOGE AND ENTERTAINED FRIENDS. MRS. HOWE WORE A most becoming midnight blue, a smart affair of velvet and tulle. As for that smartly arrayed group of the younger set doing usher duties, trust them, each one, to be sup-rlatively attractive. Miss Mary Otis in jade green, Miss Rosamond Borland in deep red, Miss Edith Parker in green, Miss Mary Foss in cerise chiffon, Miss Jean Sears in beige and Miss Dorothy Winthrop in ecru, they ushered with finesse and dispatch, and no small task it was, with an audience of hundreds.

YOUNG MR. JOHN LODGE, AS HEAD USHER, HAS A VERY INTERESTING CORPS TO OFFICIATE at the Country Club this evening when Barthold Schlesinger entertains for his niece, Miss Gloria Braggiotti. Charles Hitchcock, Charles Leatherbee, James L. Little, Jr., James Hallowell, Allerton Cushman, John Batcheider, Marcus Bell and Jack Wood are on the list. They are guests at the dinner preceding the dance. Miss Braggiotti is entertaining Miss Phebe Warren Andrews from New York and Miss Louise Ireland from Washington at her Brookline home. They came over specially.

BACK FROM THEIR HONEYMOON, MR. AND MRS. CHARLES B. DELAFIELD ARRIVED IN TOWN a day or so ago and have domiciled themselves in an apartment at the Hotel Sheraton, so pleasantly placed in Bay State Road on the Back Bay edge. Mrs. Delafield just a short few weeks ago was Miss Helen Quincy Thorndike, second daughter of the Harry Hill Thorndikes, and a lovely bride in a wedding pageant extremely smart and important. The ceremony was in Emmanuel Church, on November 8.

SCARCE A DAY PASSES THAT THE BALL COMMITTEE FOR THE MAMMOTH ARMY AND NAVY affair does not meet for conference. I saw Mrs. Walter Merriam Pratt at the Hotel Statler to meet her committee confreres looking smartest of the smart set in taupe with mole scarf. Mrs. Ronald T. Lyman, leader of the Army and Navy Ball forces, was wearing a cloche chapeau and black satin frock, likewise smart and distinguished. The ball takes place in the Statler's enormous ballroom tomorrow evening and even that spacious place will be taxed, probably. There is enormous advance interest.

MILADY OF THE SOCIAL SET GOING IN FOR A BUSINESS CAREER IS VERY WONT TO embellish such business with a social frill or two. Mrs. Herbert M. Ewer, at the Treasure House, adds the variety that is so pleasing, in the way of "A Coffee" mornings after eleven and before one. "Tea" as a variant to the business rush is no novelty. But "A Coffee," with smart matrons doing the honors, is sufficiently different to cause interesting conjecture.

Havana, Cuba, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—By reason of a new tariff provision prohibiting the entry of cigarettes containing substances other than tobacco, American cigarettes have been denied entry into Cuba.

CHINESE CHIEF WEDS GRAD OF WELLESLEY

Shanghai, Dec. 1. (A.P.)—General Chiang Kai-Shek, former Generalissimo of the Nationalist Armies, and Miss Meiling Soong, young Wellesley graduate, were married today.

The couple were married by a Christian religious service and then by a Chinese civil ceremony. Although only intimate friends attended the religious service, 1,000 Chinese and 200 foreigners, making up the most prominent members of the Chinese and foreign civil and official circles, attended the civil ceremony.

By the marriage General Chiang Kai-Shek became the brother-in-law of Madame Sun Yat Sen, widow of Republican leader Dr. Sun Yat Sen, and of T. V. Soong, Chinese financial expert.

The bride wore a white satin gown of foreign style laden with jewels, while General Chiang Kai-Shek wore a morning coat. The ceremonies were conducted throughout by Chinese, except with the assistance of one foreigner, E. L. Hall of New York, a member of the national committee of the Y. M. C. A., who aided in the civil ceremony.

HUB MEN MAY PURCHASE BALTIMORE BOAT LINES

Boston men, in a group headed by Jesse Rosenfeld, stand ready to buy and operate all boat lines of the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway, according to an announcement made today at Wilmington, Del., by James T. Pratt, head of the Maryland, Delaware & Coast Railway.

The deal in prospect is the result of a foreclosure bill filed by the Chatham and Phenix National Bank and Trust Company of New York, forcing sale of the ten boats wharves and certain other property of the B. C. & A. Railway, according to Vice-president A. J. County of that line.

MUSSOLINI IS DEAD 'AGAIN'

London, Dec. 1 (I.N.S.)—Persistent rumors circulated about the London Stock Exchange today that Premier Benito Mussolini had been assassinated.

The rumors, unconfirmed, persisted in spite of a formal denial issued by the Italian Embassy.

British government officials regarded the rumor as false. No intimation of an attack upon the Italian statesman was received through official channels from Rome.

FOUR KILLED AS TRAIN HITS AUTO ON CROSSING

Decatur, Ind., Dec. 1 (A. P.)—Four persons, two of them women, were killed today when an eastbound Erie Railroad mail train struck an automobile at Mercer Crossing.

LILLIENDAHL CASE GIVES GIRL BOLD BURGLAR PLOT

Newark, N. J., Dec. 1 (A.P.)—Toby Schoochet, pretty 14-year-old school girl, was found at home gagged with a carrot and her hands and feet tied. Two knives and forks were missing. She said a negro burglar did it.

Toby, who had been peeved be caused she could not go to the movies and play cards, was hailed as a heroine and given candy. But Police Captain Seboid was suspicious. "Have you been reading about the Lilliendahl case?" he asked. "Every word of it," she said. Then Toby confessed the fake.

We respectfully submit that

"We knew it all the time"—

Professor E. R. A. Seligman, an authority on economics, states in regard to selling on deferred payments:

"It will stand forth as one of the most signal contributions of the twentieth century to the potential creation of national wealth and national welfare."

All new movements are initiated by far-seeing, broad visioned men. Joyce Bros. & Co., Inc., always in the vanguard of progress, started selling to the general public on deferred payments 38 years ago.

NEVER have we had occasion to regret our policy. We have learned from long experience that the privilege of a charge account contributes mightily to the happiness and prosperity of those who use it. Our deferred payment charge account plan, which allows our customers several months' time over which to spread their payments in small amounts, offers a service second to none and superior to most!

We accept the compliment paid us by the many companies who have followed our lead,—we thank Prof. Seligman for confirming our judgment—but most of all, we join with our hundreds of thousands of customers, who, like ourselves, can truly say, "we knew it all the time."

To those who have not traded here, we extend our invitation to OPEN A CHARGE ACCOUNT. It involves no extra expense of any kind and is the most modern, convenient and approved method of accommodation known.

FORD'S OUTPUT NOW BUT 70 CARS A DAY

Detroit, Dec. 1.—The Ford Motor Company which has been technically "out of production" for some months, plans to step up production immediately, Edsel B. Ford, president of the company, indicated today in discussing the new model which formally will be shown to the public tomorrow.

Prices for the new model were announced by the company last night and show a schedule ranging from $385 for the roadster to $570 for the "Fordor" sedan, and from $460 to $610 for various truck types. The figures represent an increase of $10 to $25 over the old model.

Production is averaging from 65 to 70 cars a day, Edsel Ford declared. The "stepping up" program will go into effect shortly, he said, and by February it is planned to produce daily 1,000 more units than in the preceding month.

$1,596,156 FOR PHONE EXPENDITURES ON PLANT

The expenditure of $1,596,156 for new construction and improvements in plant was authorized today at the monthly appropriation meeting of the executive committee of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company.

Vermont authorizations include $33,444 for toll cables in Rutland, and $53,040 to replace toll poles destroyed by the flood between White River Junction and Woodsville. Appropriations for Greater Boston include $80,960 for underground and aerial cables in the Aspinwall-Regent exchanges; $22,920 for additional central office equipment in Milton, and $16,350 for underground and aerial cables, conduits and poles in South Boston.

HUSBAND ATE CELERY IN A BANG-BANG WAY

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 1 (I.N.S.)—William Wardley ate celery. "It sounded like a horse going over a cobble pavement," his wife, Lulu H. Wardley, declared in her divorce complaint filed here today.

Wardley also was subject to such violent rage, his wife declared, that he once crushed a kitten to death in his hands.

WOULD LIMIT PRIMARIES TO GOVERNORSHIP

Partial repeal of the popular direct primary law, which has stood on the Massachusetts statute books for six teen years, is proposed to the incoming Legislature by the joint special committee on election laws, in a report filed today at the State House.

The committee urges that hereafter the four so-called minor State officers—the Attorney-General, Secretary of State, auditor and Treasurer—be nominated under the old convention system, following the primary.

For a dozen years the present State auditor, Alonzo B. Cook, has successfully defied the organization while the present Attorney-General Arthur K. Reading, won over the choice of the people in 1926. Two objects would be accomplished by the innovation, first, an entering wedge toward the repeal of the entire direct primary; second, the immediate regaining of control of four constitutional States offices.

FAIL IN OTHER STATES

The committee acknowledges that attempts to bring about the outright repeal of the direct primary so far have met with signal failure in other states.

Some of the ills of the system, the committee contends, are:

The average number of voters participating has been only 29 out of each 100 registered.

It is no longer possible to "draft" candidates.

It deprives the party organization of responsibility for party nominations.

It has led to a system of blocs, of personal machines operated with vast expenditure of money, to demagogues, threatening to destroy party government.

The much-discussed pre-primary convention which has the indorsement of Charles H. McGlue, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and of Francis Prescott, chairman of the Republican State Committee, the committee discards because of opposition which was voiced at hearings held on the plan.

CONVENTION CHANGES.

An important change in the convention system would be to have it a "protected" body, composed solely of elected delegates.

Another change recommended is to have the alphabetical arrangement discarded and substituted by lot under direction of the Secretary of State.

A state-wide re-registration of voters is urged, to eliminate "widespread illegal registration." This would start January 1, 1929, and go into effect April 30, 1930.

Uniform voting hours are recommended for primaries and elections. In cities the polls would open not later than 6 a. m. and close at 4 p. m. In the towns, the opening would be not later than 10 a. m. and the closing at 4 p. m.

Other important changes suggested are:

WOULD CURB TOWNS.

Repeal of the present law which allows towns to count votes before the closing of the polls.

Election officers to be appointed by registrars of voting after examination. (In some cases now they are chosen by mayors and by boards of selectmen).

Taking away the authority of the Boston City Council and the few other cities which have boards of election commissioners, to fixing the time of holding elections, the power to be vested in the election commissioners.

Starting in 1932, the election of ward and town committees of each political party for terms of four years at every presidential primary, State committee members would be elected on this basis—two members from each of the 40 senatorial districts in the State and five at large by the district members.

FOR REDISTRICTING.

Redistricting every 10 years not to become effective until the second year after the taking, starting in 1936, the legislature to be authorized through a constitutional amendment to divide towns of more than 12,000 for the office of representative only.

In Suffolk County, redistricting in future to be by a board of five special commissioners, two to be appointed by the governor, two by the mayor of Boston, and one by the chief justice of the supreme court.

Representative Martha M. Brooks of Gloucester dissents from the recommendation taking the four State offices out of the primary system.

At the time of release the report had not been signed by either of the two Democrats on the committee, Representatives Edward J. Kelley of Worcester and Joseph L. Hurley of Fall River.

The remaining members of the committee are Senators Henry L. Kinsella of Quincy, Alvin E. Bliss of Malden and Representatives Harrison M. Atwood of Dorchester and Lyman A. Hodgdon of Somerville.

CHRISTMAS CLUB CHECKS OUT TODAY

Commencing today, the mutual savings banks in Boston will start mailing out Christmas Club checks. The total of the Christmas Clubs in the twenty-four mutual savings banks in the city is $2,640,000. The majority of the banks mail the checks today, leaving ample time to use the money for Christmas purchases. The largest club is in the Home Savings Bank, where $640,000 is to be distributed. The second is the Suffolk Savings Bank, where $360,000 worth of checks are to be mailed out today.

"FATTY" ARBUCKLE SAID TO OWE ON INCOME TAX

Los Angeles, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, one-time motion picture comedian, was charged today with failing to pay $1,937 due on his 1926 income tax in a lien filed by the collector of internal revenue.

Trace Twelve Meteors Hurtling Over N. E.

Twelve fireballs racing high in the air, and one with a long tail, and not only one meteor as first reported, passed over an area stretching obliquely from Eastport, Me., to Western Long Island October 18, according to announcement made today by the Harvard College observatory, as the result of recent investigations.

One of these, with a long, sweeping tail, was observed as passing from horizon to horizon, at Dennisville, Me., Cambridge, Thomaston, Ct., and ended above the southwest horizon of Seaford, L. I. The air distance of this meteor was more than 430 miles. Its height could not be computed.

KEMAL PASHA MAY TAKE BOBBED-HAIR BRIDE

London, Dec. 1 (I.N.S.)—A bobbed haired girl of 21, Princess Kubra, sister of the Amir of Afghanistan, may preside over the Turkish "White House" at Angora as the bride of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, according to advices from Cairo today.

Kemal, who recently divorced his first wife, Latifeh Hanoum, because "she began to meddle in politics," is said to be seeking the Afghanistan Princess for his wife. The Princess, who is at school in Paris, wears eyeglasses and speaks English.

VALDEMARAS IS "CRAZY," SAYS PREMIER PILSUDSKI

Warsaw, Dec. 1 (I.N.S.)—Premier Pilsudski of Poland, in a statement to the press today, branded Premier Valdemaras of Lithuania as "crazy" and said Poland is determined to remain at peace. The statement, in part, says:

"I am deeply concerned over Valdemaras' mental condition. The Lithuanian army's sword is in the hands of a madman. But Polan I s firmly resolved to maintain peace in the face of all Lithuania's provocation."

Bengal Swept by Cholera

Calcutta, India, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—Bengal is being swept by a cholera epidemic. During the week ending November 12, 2,703 cases with 2,136 deaths were reported from the province. Calcutta excepted.

TODAY

prosperity is our normal condition, just as health is the normal condition of a healthy man, as long as he abstains from foolishness, is the best description of this fortunate land.

Sudbury, in good Massachusetts, and its town council mean it when they demand President Coolidge for a second electivo term. In fact, they go farther, voting 6 to 1, to double his salary and make him President for life. Irving A. Priest, Boston banker, head of Sudbury's town committee, says the real Uncle Sam has come to life in President Coolidge, who is "thin, sharp featured, grim, deliberate, cool, firm, patient, gracious, tolerant, kind Christian."

Mr Coolidge is all those things and some others, but he agrees with George Washington that the people don't want any President for life, not even if the Angel Gabriel came down and offered to take the job.

A monument to Theodore Roosevelt will be erected above the Culebra Cut, overlooking the Panama Canal. Roosevelt deserves the honor; the monument should be a fine one.

All his interesting talk, advising women to have nineteen children, etc., will be forgotten. But the fact that he put through the Panama Canal will NOT be forgotten. In that he rendered his country great service.

President Coolidge, a man of few words, regrets that his message to Congress could not be shorter. Madame de Sevigne wrote to her daughter, "If I had had more time I should have written you a shorter letter." Considering the field covered, the President's message will be found shorter than most men could have made it. His "I do not choose" proves ability to say much in few words.

HARD FOR MEXICO TO PAY HER DEBTS NEXT YEAR

Mexico City, Dec. 1 (A.P.).—The Mexican government will have great difficulty in fulfilling its international obligations next year, a treasury department statement announces.

The estimated revenues total 280,000,000 pesos (roughly $140,000,000) while the payment of interest and amortization of debts, both those included in the Pani'amont agreement and those not included, total 170,782,079 pesos ($135,381,329.)

LADY BEAVERBROOK IS DEAD IN LONDON

London, Dec. 1 (A.P.)—Lady Beaverbrook, wife of Baron Beaverbrook, London newspaper publisher, died early today after an illness that ended in heart failure.

Lady Beaverbrook was 32nd Gladys Drury, daughter of the late Charles William Drury of Halifax, N. S. She married Baron Beaverbrook when he was William Maxwell Aitken in 1906.

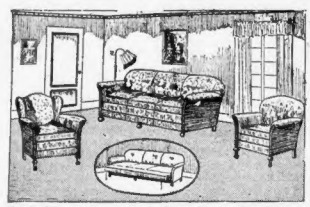
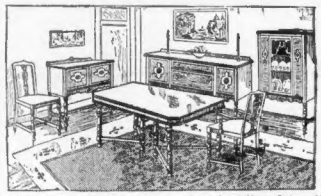
THIS graceful suite of three pieces will indeed surprise you. It is thoroughly good, inside and out. It has full spring construction—both in backs and seats. The fibre and cotton filling is new and sanitary. The covering is a rich Jacquard Velour—genuine Jacquard Velour, with the sides and outside backs in a plain Velour to match. Positively the best value we ever offered. Regular price $178, but marked for this week at 129.50



MAKE an extra guest room of your living room. This beautiful davenport opens to a full sized, comfortable bed. It has easy, restful springs in seats and back. The filling is new and sanitary and the covering is a rich Jacquard Velour. Any of the pieces will be sold separately. Davenport was 137.00, now 98.00. Chair was 43.00, now 31.50. Wing Chair was 45.00, now 32.50 ..... 162.00



IN this suite, price and quality meet, but price suffers. It is well built of walnut veneer on gumwood, and is beautifully finished. Two chairs are included, as shown, but you may have as many side chairs as you need at 5.45 each. Buffet was 58.00, now 36.00—China Cabinet was 39.00, now 26.50—Table was 44.00, now 29.85—Server was 22.50, now 15.75—Arm Chair was 13.75, now 8.95—Chairs were 8.75, now 5.45..... 122.50

MASSIVE, yet graceful in the extreme, is the beautiful suite of walnut veneer and solid Gumwood. It is shown in the increasingly popular antique finish, and bids fair to outsell any suite we have offered. Buffet 94.00, China 72.00, Table (42"x58") 69.00, Server 47.00, Tapestry-Seat Chairs 12.00 each, Arm Chair 16.00. The six pieces shown... 251.50

THE best value we ever offered. Matched veneers of American walnut combined with gumwood in hand-rubbed finish lend an air of distinction difficult to approach in other woods and in this suite the richness is enhanced by the contrasting overlays. Dresser 59.50, Chest of Drawers 51.00, Full Vanity 58.50, Bed 34.00. Sold complete for 183.00

HERE is a very neat and attractive suite at an exceptionally low price. It is well built of walnut veneer on gumwood. The drawers are full depth and slide smoothly. The mirror is large and clear, and the finish superb. Bow-End Bed was 43.00, now 29.85; Dresser was 49.00, now 32.50; Chiffonier was 42.00, now 29.50. The three pieces for 91.85

HUSBAND IDENTIFIES MYSTERY DEATH WOMAN

The woman picked up unconscious in Mt. Auburn street, Cambridge, with skull and ribs fractured, and who died early today at Cambridge Hospital, was identified today as Mrs. Rowland as Mrs. Jennie Noble Sa, of Bird street, Roxbury.

The husband, having searched for his wife a. Eight, read in a newspaper of the unidentified woman and went to the hospital, where he found her. Captain Patrick J. Hurley of the Cambridge Bureau of Criminal Investigation is probing the mystery death.

ITALIAN AVIATOR MAKES DOUBLE PARACHUTE JUMP

Verona, Italy, Dec. 1.—The perilous feat of a double jump from a falling parachute was performed for the first time in Italy at an aviation meet, by Alfredo Turri. When his plane was at a height of 4,000 feet, Turri leaped out with a parachute.

The parachute opened immediately and when he had fallen half way to the earth Turri abandoned it and dropped nearly 1,000 feet before the second parachute opened.

$500,000 IN GEM GIFTS FOR CHRISTMAS

Santa Claus will deliver approximately half a million dollars worth of diamonds and pearls in Greater Boston this year.

And the shopping has only begun. The total may be even higher.

For instance, in the shop of Carl H. Skinner, on Boylston street, reposes a $10,000 diamond bracelet which will encircle the arm of a prom-nent society woman after Dec. 25. It's a string of eight matched pearls worth $25,000, with a ruby as a young debutante who has an indulgent father.

A $12,000 BRACELET.

A woman guest at the Statler is going to be happy on Christmas morning when she gets a diamond platinum bracelet an inch and a half wide, with twelve carats of perfect blue white stones which cost the buyer $12,000 when he took it from John J. Kinsley's to his safe deposit vault. This song also sold a wonderful piece of jewelry for a Lexington society woman's Christmas gift this week. It was a large dinner ring, containing nine fine emeralds and two diamonds, giving ten carats each.

One moderately wealthy Bostonian will remind his wife of his love for her with an exquisite pearl necklace with a marquise diamond clasp. It cost $25,000, and the center pearl alone is worth $5,000. The pearls are oriental, matched and graduated, with a beautiful lustre.

Another man bought a string of pearls at Kingel v's and paid $12,000 for it last week. These were matched pearls of a delicate sheen. He was particular to have the pearls match the blonde complexion of the girl who will wear them.

BRACELETS FAVORED.

Although diamond wrist watches costing from $1,200 to $2,500 are reported sold by several shops, the diamond bracelet seems to be the favorite expensive gift this year.

Smith Patterson Company, had a wonderful diamond bracelet made to order for a customer who thought nothing of paying $3,500 for the exquisite workmanship and material involved. A woman went in there this week and bought a $2,400 watch for her husband, and many girls have chosen the diamond solitaires that they know in advance will be purchased there by their fathers or fiances.

There is plenty of money this year," the diamond buyer for Lovell said "and there will prove to be more diamonds bought for gifts this year than ever before. The advent of platinum into the jewelry field has made possible a delicate design that shows much of diamonds to best advantage as time goes on, for most of the art deco ns now and de a great deal over We make them."

Girls! Throw Pepper and Scream, Scream, if You're Held Up

Chicago, Dec. 1. (I N S.)—Lesson No. 2 in "How to Foil Bandits" was given the women of Chicago today by Chief of Detectives William E. O'Connor. He advised the women to carry packages of red pepper to be hurled into the faces of holdup men.

"Throw the pepper and then scream as loud as you can," said the chief.

Lesson No. 1, told residents to leave lights burning when they go out for an evening, and make it appear as would-be house breakers that some one is at home.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of ind gestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume of acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any druggist.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

J.P. Collins Known In N.E. as the Henry Ford of the Piano Business

IT MEANS a lot to be known as the Henry Ford of any business. And the public knows and appreciates its full meaning—because—it means the utmost service at the lowest possible price. Quality at a low price is possible only through volume of sales. Don't think me presumptuous in comparing my policy with that of the world's greatest industrialist. I don't mean to be. I simply wish to show you how alike our business fundamentals are.

SALLY'S SHOULDERS

by Beatrice Burton

Author of "The HOLLYWOOD GIRL" ETC.

The Story of a Clever Boston Girl and Her Temperamental Sister

READ THIS FIRST

SALLY JEROME, 20, is the mainstay of her family. Her father had run away. Besides Sally there are the twins, BEAU and MILLIE, aged 21. Millie, the family beauty, is always losing her jobs when employers "get gay" with her.

Sally works at home in the mornings, for her mother is a semi-invalid. In the afternoons she works for MR. PEEVEY, an elderly eccentric, who does a small mail-order business in Channcy street. TED SLOAN lives with his mother in the flat below the Jerome flat in Hemenway street. When he tries to make love to Sally she pulls him up short. Sally sees a handsome man in the elevator. She learns that he is John Nye, with an office across the hall. Ted proposes to Sally, but she promises her mother not to wed him. Sally tells Millie that Nye needs a stenographer. Sally's funds are nearly gone. Ted again talks marriage. Ted calls again, arriving just as Millie's "sweetie" —named Davidson—arrives to take her out for the evening. Beau works in a bank and Sally wonders where he gets all the money he has had lately. John Nye tells Sally he will employ Millie, but that he prefers Sally. Millie leaves her mother, desperately sick, and goes to meet Nye. Sally calls a doctor.

ORPHANS ASK GOODFELLOWS FOR TOYS

42 KISSES WILL PAY SANTA

Goodfellows, here's good news. A letter from Laura K., who lives in Newburyport. There are forty-two kisses at the bottom of the sheet.

"I am writing to you to let you know my great news. I am in the fourth grade and I wish you could send me a puzzle and a pair of gloves to go to school. I have no more to say. Please excuse my writing. Please don't forget my presents. Don't forget me."

Now here's some more good news. This time from Alice K. Not quite so many kisses.

"I am writing to you to let you know my great news. My father is sick and I do wish you could send me a puzzle and a doll. I wish you could answer my letter. Please excuse my writing. Please.

"Two days before Christmas is my brother's and my birthday. We were born [illegible] years ago and I am going to have a party for my brother and me. Please don't forget my birthday. Please don't forget my presents. Please don't forget me."

Worth Looking For

As we pass along into the colder days of Fall and Winter thousands of motorists would gladly go out of their way to get Jenney Gasoline.

But they don't need to in Eastern New England. The highways are dotted with Jenney Stations, where you can always receive helpful, attentive service as well as Jenney Gasoline and Motor Oils.

JENNEY GASOLINE

Look for the Jenney Sign, the sign of courtesy and quality. Stop in at the nearest Jenney Station at any time, for air, water, information, or any other convenience. Gas and oil if you want it—friendly attention always.

RADIO DIALOG

by

C. WILLIAM RADOS

We had intended to write about dance orchestras. But when we listened last night what we heard was terrible. The early evening hot several locals radiating distorted popular dance music. We did not know all the orchestras so each one can think it is the other one we mean.

It seemed that wherever we tuned —Silvertone orchestra, Champion Sparkers—we heard dance numbers. Distance was poor. We could not get satisfactory reception from New York, Hartford, Buffalo, Chicago or Boston.

Earlier in the day we inspected the organ in the Chamber of Commerce building, and Frank Sherry, who broadcasts with it let us play. Frank was very obliging and we did some radio sport. We think the fee is reasonable. Anyhow, the organ pickup makes it one of the best organ broadcasts.

• • •

We remember the last letter published was a complaint that somebody could not hear Medo. Here's one from a man who has a most of the country.

"Radio Editor:

"I purchased first record for one night to catch on a Minnesota station to hear radio from 8 p. m. to 8:30 a. m. Saturday, November 26 last. This is only a trial and will good. The only trouble is too many stations run into one another, and they both seem to good to hear. Otherwise all is good. The locals from Boston to Providence one can get any time, and they are as good as any others I hear. Music seems to be the most popular, and it is good. ARTHUR E. LAFLAM.

TUNNEY FELL FOR 'BLARNEY'

McCabe Claims Rickard "Outsmarted" the Champion of $115,000 in Philly Go

By DAVIS J. WALSH, International News Service Sports Editor.

New York, Dec. 1—Just how Tex Rickard was alleged to have "outsmarted" Gene Tunney out of $115,000 by a midnight telephone call, four days before the first Dempsey fight in Philadelphia, was revealed today for the first time.

The alleged action was made by Dr. Mathew McCabe, one of the boxing commissioners, and it was offered in the way of evidence that promoter Rickard wasn't disposed to treat him in the manner he pictured in his demandment.

The fifty-thousand dollar kick-back from the original contract Tunney is reported to have had with Rickard evaporated as a result of the twenty per cent of the receipts. What the champion alleged he actually received was a guarantee of $115,000, says Dr. McCabe, and Tunney was due to get some $115,000 if he had insisted upon the promoter carrying out the terms of the contract to the letter.

GENE'S HEART BIG.

That he did not so insist was due to the goodness of his heart or something, according to McCabe. For Rickard, keeping Tunney standing by a drafty telephone booth for upward of an hour, is said to have flooded with the flabby that he, Rickard was "a bad egg" with the directors of the Madison Square Garden Corporation because they thought he was overstepping his mark on the fight and it, therefore, was up to Tex to help him out. Tale, says McCabe, Tunney was naively agreed to do.

"And that gentleman added, "all that time Rickard had a knife out for me. I often wonder if it were not prompted somewhat from Rickard that he would send me a contender for a title fight next Summer, under the rules of our contract."

From Tunney's point have come frequent hints that he was far from satisfied with the way Rickard took care of his end of the bargain. At one point he even went so far as to intimate that gate receipts were not those outlined in the contract.

"SMOKED" RICKARD OUT.

The latter merely scouted the idea, declaring that the books were open to inspection at any time. Last Wednesday, when he was confronting with Rickard Dr. Edward W. Hart, referee at the ringside, made a motion to force Rickard to show his books.

The object of all of this hocus pocus was to get a contract so favorable that the alleged Philadelphia incident would be wiped out of all memory and it might be said, off hand, that Tunney succeeded.

And why he got a contract that [illegible] for he [illegible] that Tunney was [illegible] contract paying [illegible]

RHEAUME WIZARD GOALIE

Boston Tiger Captain Is the Sensation of Professional Hockey This Season

By BILL GRIMES.

For the first time in his career, which stretches over a period of fifteen years, Herb Rheaume of the Boston Tigers is taking his hockey seriously.

As a net guardian, Rheaume has few superiors. For years he has been looked upon as one of the greatest goal keepers in the game, when he was right.

But in this line to look at hockey from a business angle, other than what it means to Lou Rheaume did not shine over brightly in the eyes of the promoters. So it is not to be wondered at that during his decade and a half in hockey he has seen connected with two or three teams.

The net wizard has become intrigued to such with Rheaume when he came to guard the nets for the old Westminster Hill and when after the season opened were still running along with the greatest puck performers. Then Herb has stopped for great goals to fame and to retire the fighting Rheaume was a wonderful compliment to the club.

FIRST FLASHED HERE.

He was in no small measure responsible for the success of the Westminster team when it went through the N. S. A. A. season undefeated.

Before Lester Patrick and Conn Smythe brought the Victoria Cougars to play with the fastest hockey teams in Canada, Herb started his career as a defense man on the Cornwall Street rink team in Ottawa, his home town. After four seasons he entered the Ottawa City League as a goal tender for the Grand Trunk and his work there impressed Lester to such an extent that he signed Rheaume with a wonderful compliment to his ability.

SARPOLIS READY FOR MAT TEST

Lithuanian Champion Meets Vargarini in Main Bout at Opera House Tonight

Dr. Karl Sarpolis, Lithuanian champion wrestler has every confidence that he will be declared the winner in his finish match tonight with Giovanni Vargarini, the Italian flash at the Grand Opera House.

Sarpolis looks tanned and bronzed like an athlete in perfect condition. He has worked hard to be in shape for this bout and feels that he has nothing to worry about. The winner has been promised a match with Joe Mawenkiwicz in the near future.

Vargarini has trained hard and feels as confident as Sarpolis. He says everything is set for this match. His work here has impressed the fans.

Vargarini since coming to Boston has expressed a willingness to meet all comers. He has wants matches with the best in the game and to fight his first big advance.

Joe Bill Konnar is another wrestler that has made a decided hit here with the fans. He looks all that his name implies. He likes the rough stuff and in this style is second to none.

He meets Jack Schaefer, the big German and Abe Kaplan, the Jewish champion, on the same mat tonight.

Mike Telechian, Armenian champion in the light heavyweight class will meet Charley Peterson in one fall match, while Jack O'Dell of Woburn locks horns with Al Thomas, Syrian strong man.

All bouts will be refereed by Leon Barbanks.

SPADAFORA ELECTED CAPTAIN AT MELROSE

William Spadafora has been elected captain of the Melrose High School football team for next season. He played right end this season and was regarded as one of the best ends in the interscholastic ranks.

This year's captain, Richard Means, tackle, will enter Harvard next Fall. Spadafora, as a sophomore last year, won three letters in football, hockey and basket ball.

Bruins Fare Well in N. H. L. Statistics

First official scoring and penalty statistics released by the National League today, and taking in games played up to Tuesday, show that scoring strength has been evenly distributed and no player has any outstanding advantage.

Frank Boucher of the Rangers with four goals and one assist leads the scorers with five points, but Herbie Lewis of Detroit and Bunny Ward of the Rangers are right on his heels with four. Aurel Joliat of the Canadiens, Stewart of Montreal Maroons and Pringle of Ottawa have a total of three.

The Boston Bruins as a unit have not yet started scoring in their games. Their abilities but Jimmy Ward, their three goals before being shut out by Montreal Tuesday, while Frank Fredrickson, Eddie Shore and Harry Oliver have two points each.

Few of the star players so far, Morenz, Joliat, Cooney, Boucher, Irwin and Barry, have started off as fast as strangers of the past, but are rounding into shape and will be heard from later in the season.

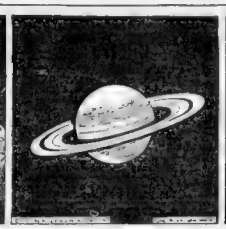
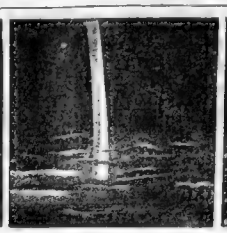
The Story of the Stars (Saturn's Rings) By Garrett P. Serviss

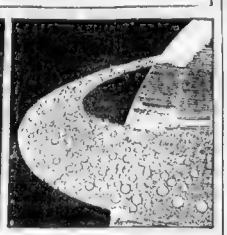
Saturn's rings have no known copies in the universe. Seen from Saturn itself they must present instructive spectacles. There is a view from near one of the polar regions of Saturn. The rings hang far away over the equator.



There are three principal rings shown above. They are thin compared with the breadth, 170,000 miles. They cast large shadows on the planet, and the planet on them. Large portions of both remain shaded for years.



Looked at from Saturn's equator, the great rings are viewed nearly edgewise, spanning the sky in a great glowing arch. A number of Saturn's nine moons are seen at the same time, all farther away than the rings.



Smooth and solid as they look in a telescope, it is certain that Saturn's rings consist of millions of separate particles, or little bodies, thickly crowded and revolving all in nearly the same plane.

The LOVELORN

by Beatrice Fairfax

A Love Serial of Boston Girls by an Authority on the Affairs of the Heart

CHAPTER 27.

ANN'S effort to win a declaration of love from Bill had resulted only in her own humiliation. She had gone to Revere Beach with him after that afternoon dinner at the restaurant where she met Georgie with Ernest Brown, and she had tried to confess after her unfortunate talk with Bill.

Her pride was broken and she felt ashamed and miserable. For the first time in her life her own problems had obscured all other considerations. She even forgot about Georgie and Ernest, and dreaming that Bill also was with them paying wit, the men of [illegible] abroad with Ernest.

She began to [illegible] with thoughts that [illegible] a strange pleasure in them. She would never see Bill any more, never hear his laugh, or see his quick, serious frown, his boyish perplexity. He would be just a name and a memory—she would never see him from now on.

But when she had thought this, she returned once more to wondering why he didn't [illegible] liked him. And she knew then that she had no intention of giving him up.

She must make him like her, she must somehow! Without him, life [illegible] wasn't worth the living. Georgie's face, her eyes, her trembling lips [illegible] in her endeavor to hit upon some means to make Bill like her.

"Ever so sorry, Bill," she said. Strange how calm her voice was, how clear her brain was! So resplendent [illegible] She glanced toward Jimmy, who had moved on and was evidently waiting for her.

"You see," she finished, "I'm lunching with—with a friend." She said the word softly, mysteriously.

"What do you mean, Ann? You mean that big guy who was with you. You're going out with him?"

"Yes."

"Well, come on and eat with me instead."

"Some other time."

"Are you afraid to break your date

"Not a bit afraid, Bill. It just happens I don't want to."

He looked puzzled, he looked even startled. Her pulses jumped to see that look come into his face.

"But you told me last night," he blurted out, "that is, you let me understand—"

She laughed a clear, ringing laugh. By instinct again she found the right words, said without a trace of scorn as that he could never have suspected their insincerity.

[illegible] didn't want him. She never would want him. She preferred [illegible] men who could give her [illegible] pay [illegible] She [illegible] he was a mere boy. And underneath all was a [illegible] of those glorious [illegible] and [illegible] the strong [illegible] and loyalty in the [illegible]

Ann tried to think of some means some miracle, that would [illegible] Bill into realizing [illegible]

THE WITTY SAYINGS OF MEDBURY---BY JOHN P. MEDBURY

THIS is the time of year when thousands of fellows are breaking off with their girls until after Christmas. They have what you'd call presents of mind.

THEY meet a dame on the American plan and leave her via the Scotch system.

BUT the women don't care; they can fall in love with anybody else for the holidays.

MOST of the girls have become athletes and are turning their attention to dumbbells.

A JOHN in time saves writing to Santa Claus.

THE women are looking for soldiers of fortune and every piece of mistletoe is a recruiting station.

ANY poor sapling makes a wonderful Christmas tree.

AND the average girl doesn't wait until December 24th before she starts trimming you.

THEY'RE not interested in a fellow with a past. They want a man with a present.

A WOMAN may believe in tradition, but she usually goes out and digs up her own Santa Claus.

AND after she gets through with him she turns him over to the Salvation Army.

SOME dames don't think anything of copping a Kris Kringle out of another woman's chimney.

THEY'LL hang their stockings on their neighbor's mantelpieces.

ALL is fair in love and gold-digging.

THE Christmas spirit covers up a multitude of sins.

NO girl would think of stealing your husband for keeps.

SHE just borrows him for the holidays.

MANY an innocent man is caught in the yuletide and has to be resuscitated.

EVERY wife will have to watch her husband for the next few weeks. He may be a prize package, but you're liable to find him under some woman's Christmas tree.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—if there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes — pimples — a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent. of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Simple treatment makes skin smooth and clear

JOY COMES TO KANSAS CITY WOMAN

Kansas City, Mo., June 12:—"I am delighted with Resinol Soap and Ointment, they have benefited my skin so much. The soap leaves it very smooth and gives just the results I have been looking for. I had pimples and blackheads almost covering my face at one time, but by using both soap and ointment I have succeeded in conquering the disorder. I tried several other remedies, but didn't get any results. We take both Resinol Soap and Ointment with us on our vacation trips as we find them always needed, and the ointment is especially good for almost any kind of insect bites."—(Signed) Mrs. Carl Schutze, 2311 Wabash Ave.

Your druggist sells the Resinol products. Keep your skin clear and velvety by daily use of Resinol Soap. For the occasional pimple apply a touch of Resinol Ointment.

To awake with a cold and be rid of it by noon—would you like to know how to do it? You don't have to dose yourself with strong drugs. Just take a plain white, pleasant-tasting tablet.

Pape's Cold Compound is such a simple thing to use, it doesn't seem possible that it can knock a cold out completely in a few hours. But it does! And there isn't a single after effect on heart, head, or stomach. It is sold by every druggist for only 35c.

HOW TO GET ON

This is J. Wilbur Grotz, floorwalker at the Bon Marche Department Store. "My success," says Grotz, "is probably due to my way with women. If a lady customer asks me where the wigets are, I thiuk up something to say, quick as a flash, and invariably escort her to the escalator which leads to some department or other. We have so many interesting things in our large stock, one hardly knows which way to turn, does one? How short the days are getting."

Infant Care

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless and reliable, especially when a few drops of plain sugared will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill throughout the system. Fretfulness and fever—and it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, and without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. Castoria is delicious. Your own tongue will tell you why "Children Cry for It." Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's the least sign of colic; constipation; diarrhoea, or whenever there's need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Only one word of warning: the above is true of genuine Castoria.* Fletcher's is the original. Other preparations may or may not be as pure, as free from a single doubtful drug. Physicians tell parents to get Fletcher's Castoria, and no child of his will ever know what it is to have other kind. I'll save a dime some other way.

*SPECIAL NOTE: With every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" worth its weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

United States Hotel Still Offers Fine Dining Service

Contrary to many reports that the United States Hotel in Boston had closed its dining room doors, the facts are that it was temporarily closed for the installation of new kitchen equipment. For those who desire a quiet, comfortable and reasonable place to dine this old hostelry still offers a very fine, reasonable service.

FLORIDA INFORMATION BUREAU OPENED IN HUB

The Greater Chambers of Commerce of Miami Beach and Miami, Florida, have opened an Information Bureau for the giving of information to prospective visitors to Miami and Miami Beach at No. 248 Washington street, the home of the Marsters' Tourist Bureau.

This bureau will be in charge of Miss Helen A. Skinner, who has just come on from Chicago, where she organized a similar bureau for the giving of information to the public.

PLAN FOR MORE TOURISTS TO COLORADO

"That Colorado's tourist business now amounts to more than six times the gold output of the State, and travellers leave more money in Colorado than the tax payers turn over to the State Treasury every year," was the statement made by H. F. Burhans, executive secretary of the Denver Tourist and Publicity Bureau at a recent meeting of the local railroad officials.

Mr. Burhans was host to the Boston representatives of Western lines and tourist agents at a luncheon held at the Parker House, the meeting being called to discuss plans relative to the growing travel to Colorado and the West.

Mr. Burhans pointed out that the "See-America" movement has caught the popular imagination. Travel to the National Parks through Denver and other gateways to the Nation's playground has increased many fold. Resorts have sprung up in many sections of Colorado which previously were devoted exclusively to mining.

"Next year" Mr. Burhans said "travelers will be able to go by motor from Denver to the top of Mount Evans, 14,255 feet above sea level—this highway is now being complete, and will be the highest automobile road in the world.

"Travel to Mesa Verde, Nationa-Park, the home of the ancient cliff dwellers increased 200 per cent in the last year. Rocky Mt. National Park, the nearest of all the mayor national parks to the East, attrded 46 automobiles over 250,000 visitors this year. Denver eclipsed all records by entertaining 185 conventions—some for every day of the year.

Mr. Burhans pointed out that the tourist business is now one of the great industries of the country and that ever $20 000,000 is spent annually in advertising and other details of "Selling America to Americans."

NORTH GERMAN LLOYD PLANS MORE HUB SAILING

Christopher Gross, general agent of the North German Lloyd at No. 65 State street, has been informed that it has definitely been decided by the North German Lloyd to send additional steamships to Boston during the coming year.

In addition to the sailings previously announced, it has now been decided to have the steamer Berlin work from Boston on July 27 and the Seydlitz on August 10. Both these steamships will call at Galway on their way to Bremen.

Last Summer the North German Lloyd reopened Galway in Ireland as a transatlantic port of call. Since that time many tours have been undertaken to Galway and a Christmas cruise, hereby announced, will sail on December 8. The great demand for accommodations on the steamship Columbus on her last voyage has prompted the North German Lloyd to extend this service.

"Breakfus' in yo' cabin this mawnin', Suh?"

Go South this winter, the lazy, delightful, de luxe way—on a fast modern liner of the Savannah Line.

A large, luxurious cabin with twin beds and private bath if you wish it. A cuisine which is a delightful combination of the culinary lore of French chef and Southern cook. Accommodations and service such as you are accustomed to on the finest transAtlantic liners.

A three-and-one-half-day cruise to summer seas with a one-day stop-over at New York for shopping and sight-seeing. Then old Savannah—the gateway to Dixie—here just through transit.

Unsurpassed passenger and fast freight service linking New England and the East with the South, Southwest and West.

Sailings from Boston—Mon. and Wed., 4 P. M. Sat., 12 Noon.
New York—Mon., Wed. and Fri., 4 P.M.
Automobiles carried.

For booklets, reservations, through tickets or additional information regarding cruises to Nassau, Havana, Panama, Puerto Colombia, Cuba or Mexico, apply to Ocean Steamship Co. of Savannah, Pier 42 Hudson Tunnel Docks, Boston—Phone Charlestown 1320, or any authorized tourist agency.

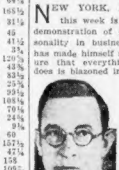
Corporation Heads Should Get Known; Ford's Example

By B. C. FORBES

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Americans this week is having a unique demonstration of the value of personality in business. Henry Ford has made himself so dramatic a figure that everything he says and does is blazoned in the newspapers, no matter how directly it advertises his product.



B. C. Forbes.

Do you imagine for a moment that, without the personality of Henry Ford, his car would ever have hypnotized newspapers and magazines into showering upon it so much priceless publicity? Even Barnum could not command a tenth of the volume of free advertising Henry Ford is eagerly accorded. Had there been no such glaring-up of the Ford product in news columns, the Ford Motor Company doubtless would have felt compelled to spend millions in preliminary advertising.

Why have the newspapers "fallen" for so much free Ford advertisement?

Because Henry Ford has succeeded in making himself and all his doings interesting news—news very widely read, judged by the keenness of the editors to get it.

Herein lies an invaluable suggestion for other large business enterprises.

Every great corporation should strive to dramatize, so to speak, the man at its head—have his personality interpreted to the public in such a way that the public would get a favorable conception of the organization because of its conception of its head.

Human beings always are more interested in human beings than in corporations. And it is, perhaps, significant that the majority of American corporations that have attained conspicuous success have been headed by men whose names became synonymous with their companies—men whose personalities caught the imagination of the public and made an impression upon their minds.

The United States Steel Corporation first had the benefit of the glamour of the original J. P. Morgan's name and fame. Later Judge Gary personified the mammoth corporation. And in time the Judge's reputation became one of the corporation's most valuable assets. Now it will be the turn of James A. Farrell to give the people opportunity to get well acquainted with him.

* * *

Charles M. Schwab has been the Bethlehem Steel Company in the eyes of the public, for the last twenty years. Such a hold did Mr. Schwab get on the public mind that it still pictures Bethlehem Steel as the handiwork of Mr. Schwab and nobody else, whereas the fact is that for several years Eugene G. Grace has been the dynamic force guiding the company's operations. Mr. Schwab has done his best to get the public to recognize this, but without much success thus far.

* * *

Recall what Rockefeller became in oil, Carnegie in steel, Morgan in banking? Their names and personalities wrought fortunes in acquainting the public with their business activities. It was the extraordinary personality of John H. Patterson that did more than anything else to make his cash register so well known. Of late years George Eastman, the man, has proved an invaluable asset to his huge enterprise.

* * *

General Motors has been handicapped somewhat in this respect. Pierre du Pont, its chairman, has in him the makings of a most attractive public figure, but he very much dislikes being in the limelight. President Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., is similarly constituted. Moreover, his name is so constantly applied to the grindstone that he hasn't the time necessary for handling publicity and public relations in a personal way—accessibility to the representatives of the public, the press, is essential to the process. But, now that the various units of the corporation have been licked into shape, Mr. Sloan may have the opportunity to give the people a better chance to know him.

C. A. Coffin shrank from public contact, but his successor, Owen D. Young, undoubtedly changed that policy, because, as he then told me, the public are entitled to know about the men directing the affairs of enterprises in which thousands and thousands of people invest their earnings.

W. R. Hearst early succeeded in projecting his vigorous personality upon the public's imagination. The largest real estate business in New York is done by a man whose personality has been his greatest asset —Joseph P. Day. For years the American Telephone Company was Theodore N. Vail. The most successful British man of the present generation was a vivid, unique personality, Lord Leverhulme, the Sunlight Soap King.

More and more it becomes essential that inanimate corporations stand well in the public's esteem

FUR SALE
Northern Loan Co.
Authorized and Bonded by City of Boston
$25 $35 $45 up
We challenge anyone, large or small to give you better retail value in brand new 1928 styles as ladies' fur coats than we are giving. We have on hand at present hundreds of beautiful fur coats from which you can think of. The very same kind you are accustomed to the finest fur stores in the country. The same as you are paying hundreds elsewhere for. We carry women in all walks of life to make comparisons. Because we are prepared to prove to our visitors. Don't misjudge these high-grade coats by the extremely low prices we are asking for. Young, middle-aged and elderly women will find here the most wonderful Caracals, all shades, fox trimmed. The latest Northern Seals (Hudson Muskrats) in the new Opal (Opal Cover). Raccoons and hundreds of others.
We don't picture our merchandise in the paper. We confine our selling to our store. All we ask is that you come and look at our goods and compare Freeberg's Northern Loan Co. prices with any style or quality in the city. We don't care how flashy your ads are, how hard you put it over, or how little or how much you have to spend. We have it for you. Freeberg's Northern Loan Co. Basement Floor.

LUMBAGO
MRS. LUCY LAGONETTE, 34 BENNETT ST., ROXTON, MASS., SAYS: "High blood pressure and kidney troubles caused me great suffering for the past three years. Doctors and specialists at Cambridge treated me but were not successful in relieving me. I read of Dr. J. Walsh, M. D., and his great success he had achieved in the treatment of kidney troubles, and I went to his office and received treatment. In a short time I felt like a new woman. Dr. J. Walsh, M. D., was true, and I regret that I had not known of him before. Now that I might have been spared years of terrible suffering."

STOMACH
MR. FRANK ANGELL, 61 WINTER ST., MILFORD, MASS., says: "I had been a great sufferer from stomach trouble for years. I was cross, irritable and had pains, and nothing that I took or did seemed to help with me. I had been treated by four different doctors, all failed to relieve me any of my suffering. A neighbor, Peter Julian, told me to see Dr. J. Walsh, M. D., as he knew he had suffered from stomach trouble also and that he had been successful in curing him. I saw what success he had achieved in the treatment of others and decided to call on him. I received treatment and in a short time I felt like a new man. Dr. J. Walsh, M. D., was true, and I regret that I had not known of him before. Now that I might have been spared years of terrible suffering."

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN BOSTON DECEMBER 1, 1927

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defence.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

Blessed Are the Merciful

For They Shall Obtain Mercy

Your sympathetic attention is directed most earnestly today to the letters the boys and girls are beginning to write to the Goodfellow Editor. Some will be found on one of the inside pages.

The children of the sick and the out-of-work carry themselves pretty bravely at all other seasons, but when Christmas comes have to stop pretending.

Read some of these pathetic letters and your own good heart will tell you what to do. Mr. Goodfellow does not want money, although he will be glad to use it in your name and under your direction. What he prefers is YOU, in person. What is desired is an expression of your willingness to take as your Christmas charge one of the needy families whose situation is described by our youthful correspondents.

Few of them ask for anything for themselves and fewer still for toys or sweets. What they want are rubbers, sweaters, sleeping garments, warm dresses, articles of underwear, for little sisters and younger brothers.

In the Name of the Christ-child, take one of these families as your special charge on His natal day.

All that is necessary is that you communicate your willingness to Goodfellow Editor, Boston Evening American, No. 5 Winthrop Square. A postal card will serve or, if you are pressed for time, telephone call to Liberty 4000.

Enter December

21 Days in Which to D. Y. C. S.

Counting this one, there are twenty-one shopping days before Christmas.

NEED more be said?

For buyer and seller, customer and clerk, TODAY is the best of them all. Tomorrow will be second-best, and so on down to that frantic day before Christmas when nerve-wracked last-minute shopper meets salesman or saleswoman who is all but "ready to go to bed and stay there."

Stocks and sales forces now are at their best. Help yourself and win the appreciation of clerks and postal employes by shopping early.

MAIL early, too—having first wrapped securely—and perhaps on Christmas Day this year we all can be happy.

Imperial Goose Is Gone

But the Goose STEP Is Still There

MODERN BERLIN STILL APPLAUDS THE GOOSE STEP

This picture is interesting, especially to those of German blood. It shows that a people conquered do not necessarily STAY conquered. The prize imperial German goose, William Hohenzollern, is out of the picture permanently, safe in his castle in Holland.

But the GOOSE STEP, emblematic of German military energy, is NOT dead.

Here you see a parade of the Stahlhelm through Berlin streets, with the crowd cheering. And you notice the old familiar goose step.

The leg does not go out quite as straight as it did in old days when the young recruits were drilled so severely. But the stiff knee is there, the hand tight at the side, the eyes right, and the evidence of will power.

The German army is now called "an unarmed army." It won't be UNARMED, permanently. Things change.

And if Russia, with Asia behind her, should come rushing toward western Europe, Germany wouldn't need to ask the League of Nations' permission to arm her soldiers. The League of Nations would IMPLORE her to do so.

Fortunately the war's hatreds have disappeared. In spite of doleful predictions, it is not probable that intelligent men of European nations would allow the beginning of another war that would mean absolute destruction for Europe's civilisation. And also, fortunately, it is not probable that the ignorant masses would consent to be led out to the slaughter again, bombed, shrapneled, gassed and kept in trench mud for years.

The United States played its part in the war, paid many millions for doing so, and doesn't want any more war.

When you see this picture of the Germans, you will remember that it took four great nations of Europe combined, with help from this country, to defeat Germany, although, as he proved by running away, Germany's leader was not worthy of German intelligence or the German fighting spirit.

It was with the Germans in this war much as it was with the Irish at the battle of the Boyne.

At that battle the Irish were led by an Englishman. The English were led by a Dutchman.

MOTHERS WHO ARE WELL-BALANCED

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A GOOD example of the well-balanced mother is Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh.

When her heroic young son started on his now world-famous non-stop flight, Detroit school officials thought that Mrs. Lindbergh should take a vacation. She demurred and wanted to stay at her post, but the school authorities insisted that her duties be temporarily abandoned.

The reporters sought her the day young Lindbergh was making his great flight and found her out in her garden among the flowers. She was not in the house weeping. Neither was she sitting inside discussing her boy's possible fate with consoling friends.

The newspaper men reported that she wore a smile, was busy digging in the garden and appeared to be happy and confident.

What better evidence of a sound and well-balanced mind could be found!

When Mrs. Lindbergh was asked if she did not wish to go abroad and share her son's honors she replied that he was in the hands of friends and did not need her.

This kind of mind is the result of mental control—discipline, courage and firmness of will. It follows in the wake of clear thinking, combined with common sense. It is no mere happening.

Of course the well-balanced mind has character. This is the foundation stone imbedded in a woman's consciousness which takes root before she knows much about mental control of her faculties or herself.

It is not strange that young Lindbergh, having been the beneficiary of a well-balanced mother's guiding hand in his early years, showed rare poise and judgment in all he said and did during the time he was being showered with honors, both by kings and the people.

Later, when the money tempters failed to reach Colonel Lindbergh with their offers they turned their attention to his mother, thinking middle age might yield, but she, too, refused to sacrifice her fine idealism for pelf.

The well-balanced mother is a priceless heritage to her family, her friends and all with whom she comes in contact, for her influence is tremendous and powerful. She never seeks the plaudits of the multitude and nothing equals her power for good.

The example set by Mrs. Lindbergh and her son will do much to raise the world's conception of Americans and also to teach Americans a truer appreciation of life's real values.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

BOOKS aren't always a blessing.

Don't respect a person merely because he's "well read". He may be so well read that he's a wash-out.

Even the reading of the best of books may raise Cain with your life. Books MAY be friends—or they may be deadly narcotics. And it doesn't depend on the quality of the book. It depends on the use to which you put that book.

Do you read for well earned amusement or refreshment? Do you read to find inspiration and knowledge to serve you on your way? Then go to it.

OR DO YOU READ AS A SUBSTITUTE FOR ACTION? DO YOU TAKE BOOKS AS YOU WOULD TAKE DRUGS, ENTERING INTO THEIR UNREAL LIFE, SHUTTING YOURSELF AWAY FROM THE WORLD OF REALITY? Then avoid books as you would the devil.

Georges Clemenceau spoke of that the other day, looking back on his long life and weighing its values.

"The only road that leads to self-realization and complete peace is the road of work," he says.

But Words—Clemenceau distrusts words.

"Words! Words! Words!" he cries. "Words that kill the idea, words that suppress experimentation, words that make for us a false life in which we wander, passing among men without knowing them."

"Where you find the most words you find the least action. WORDS ARE, TO A CONSIDERABLE DEGREE, ENEMIES TO ACTION, BECAUSE THEY ARE MADE SO OFTEN TO SUBSTITUTE ACTION AND MASQUERADE AS SUCH. ACTION, NOT WORDS, ENLARGES THE SOUL AND MAKES FOR HARMONY AND CONTENTMENT."

Think of that before you go on with your reading.

What is reading doing for you?

Words are good if they ripen into action and enrich life. Are the words you read doing that? Or are they helping you evade life? Are you reading about courage and honor and sacrifice instead of living them?

Are you reading about mighty men instead of being one?

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

He is not only dull himself, but the cause of dullness in others.
—Samuel Johnson.

A chaste and lucid style is indicative of the same personal traits in the author.
—Hosea Ballou.

Of what use is a fortune to me if I can not use it?
—Horace.

In all matters, before beginning, a diligent preparation should be made.
—Cicero.

The doubtful [illegible] long nods from side to side.
—Pope.

Everything comes if a man will wait.
—Disraeli.

Excuse me, then you know my heart;
But dearest friends, alas! must part.
—Gay.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

WHAT is this life which men so greatly prize above all other treasures that they give wealth, joy, truth, honor in their fellow's eyes; give all with gladness that they may out live? Too many hold that life is but to be, to drag through dull existence, day on day; content with ignorance and poverty of mind and soul they wear drab years away. But there are those who ask the brimming cup, who want not dregs, but sweet and potent wine, and the exilir that their lips would sup must hold some essence that is part divine. True life is growth. Unless from hour to hour you gain in all the attributes of worth, in kindliness, in patience, peace and power, you do not live, although you walk the earth.

OBSERVATIONS ON COLLEGE LIFE

By Garrett P. Serviss,
Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Subjects of Popular Interest.

I HAD with m. in France and England my old friend and c'assmate at Cornell University, Major Louis Livingston Seaman of New York. We were with the American Legion at the Verdun and St. Mihiel celebration, for Major Sheaman had war memories of those dramatic places. We were at Oxford and Cambridge and Stratford, and for two weeks, three score years ago, had been freshmen together on the New World hilltop campus at Ithaca. This was a kind of golden wedding trip.

However, eating ripe red mulberries that strewed the velvet sward under John Milton's hoary mulberry tree in Christ's College yard, brought no memory of college days to us, for the Tompkins County hills in the sixties were famous only for chestnuts. But when we got back to our headquarters at Dijon, the ancient ducal capital of Burgundy, there was flashed before us a scene that recreated at a stroke the morning years of college life in America.

Dijon is the seat of a famous old university and the birthplace of many of France's greatest men. The scene that arrested our attention was simple enough, though one that, as inevitable as a circus, attracts gazers and laughter. It was the ern of the opening of the schools, and a hundred or two of students from the university colleges had formed a chain that precipitated itself endwise, like an immense serpent, through the streets and squares, occasionally winding through the corridors and passages of a big and crowded department store that lay handy, and all the while uttering the dulcet college yell.

Two city "cops," detailed to see that no law was seriously broken, brought up the end of the procession and, having no discretion as to keeping the turbulent crowd continually in sight, they were switched through the entire circuit like the lash of a whip. The delight of the boys was to see the police sweat.

Such has always been the beginning of college life, and always will be, because college life brings the first personal independence.
